What our experts think:

This colourful number building set provides a fun, creative way to learn key numeracy skills. It is a great tool for engaging children in learning and helps them to build confidence while discussing patterns and numbers.

The cards provided help children to use mathematical language too, for example by encouraging them to compare heights or count the parts that make a whole object. The set is easy for little ones to use and features a variety of different types of pictures and patterns to create which also challenge spatial skills.

Skills developed:

- Develops counting and numeracy skills
- Improves hand-eye coordination and spatial awareness
- Promotes creativity and pattern-making

"It's good for learning our numbers at the same time as playing."
